

International Association for English Research

Notice on 2022 National English Grammar Challenge for College Students (NEGCCS)

1.Introduction

In order to stimulate the enthusiasm of college students in the country to learn English and improve their English grammar ability, the International Association for English Research has decided to hold the National English Grammar Challenge for College Students (NEGCCS) in 2022.

Grammar is an important skill in English, and it is also a shortcoming of Chinese college students' English learning. In order to overcome the shortcomings of college students' English grammar in my country, the National English Grammar Challenge for College Students is divided into four categories: A, B, C, and D to organize national college students to participate in the competition. That is, graduate students, undergraduates, junior college students of all grades and majors in colleges across the country can participate in the NEGCCS of the corresponding category. Category A is suitable for graduate students; Category B is suitable for undergraduate students majoring in English; Category C is suitable for non-English major undergraduate students; Category D is suitable for junior college students. The award-winning certificate of the NEGCCS will provide an important basis for college students to evaluate their excellence, recommended graduate students, and study abroad.

2.Organizers

International Association for English Research

3.Contestants

All full-time students (graduate, undergraduate, and junior college students) in colleges across the country can participate in the NEGCCS.

4.Principle

Adhere to the principle of voluntary registration of students. This activity "focuses on participation and is oriented to all", and it is not allowed to select only some "top students" to participate in the competition, while excluding most students.

5.Schedule

June 24, 2022 - August 31, 2022

6.System

This competition adopts the form of online registration and online competition. Students who successfully register will choose the test room and take the online test within the specified time. After the teacher gives the score, the list of winners will be sorted according to the score, and certificates will be issued to the winning students. Please refer to the official website of the competition (www.saikr.com/vse/2022NEGCCS) for the specific exam time and procedure.

7.Rewards

I.Student Awards:

First prize: No more than 5% of the contestants, Second prize: No more than 15% of the contestants, Third prize: No more than 30% of the contestants, *all contestants can obtain an electronic version of the certificate of participation.

II. Collective Awards:

Comprehensive evaluation will be based on the winning of the participating teams and the number of participating teams.

III.Teacher Awards:

Comprehensive evaluation will be based on the winning of the participating teams and the number of participating teams.

IV.Volunteer Awards

Contribute to the promotion, organization, and distribution of award certificates for the competition.

8.Fee

Each Contestants needs to pay the registration and evaluation fee of 39 yuan, which is paid through the competition official website; the fee is used for competition organization, proposition, score, certificate production and mailing.

9.Registration

Register on the competition registration website (www.saikr.com/vse/2022NEGCCS). This website is the only official registration channel for the competition.

